

Return to Work Programming

- ❖ It is recommended that the Basics course be taken first and then choose either the Small or Large Business.

Basics of Worker's Compensation and Introduction to RTW

Description: A ½ day course that looks at the history of workers' compensation, introduces the concept of RTW and its importance, and provides the legal and policy frameworks that guide and support RTW.

Tuition - $85.00 per seat

RTW Basics courses are scheduled;

In Whitehorse- May 26, 2014

In Dawson-April 30, 2014

In Watson Lake-May 5, 2014

Return to Work (Large Business or Unit)

Description: A two-day course specifically designed for workplaces with 20 employees or more. Participants will explore the legal responsibilities of RTW unique to workplaces with 20 or more employees. The course will also cover: making the case for RTW; the duty to accommodate; choosing the job; RTW plan development; monitoring, adjusting and problem solving; RTW programs, making the connection to ongoing resources, and RTW program evaluation. Tuition - $225 per seat

RTW Large Business courses are scheduled;

In Whitehorse- May 27th and 28th, 2014

In Dawson-May 2nd and May 3rd, 2014

Return to Work (Small Business or Unit)

Description: A one-day course designed for Yukon workplaces with less than 20 employees. Participants will explore the legal responsibilities of RTW unique to workplaces with less than 20 employees. The course will also cover making the case for RTE; the duty to accommodate; choosing the job; RTW plan development; monitoring; adjusting and problem solving; RTW programs, making the connection to ongoing resources and RTW program evaluation. Tuition - $125.00 per seat

RTW Small Business courses are scheduled;

In Whitehorse-May 29, 2014

In Dawson-May 1, 2014

In Watson Lake-May 7, 2014

As RTW is a new requirement of COR, interest is high and seats will fill up quickly. Please register through our website www.yukonsafety.com

alternatively all (867) 633.6673 or email info@yukonsafety.com for registration and inquiries